Portland, Me., Sept. 15.—An apparent majority of 134 votes for repeal of the liquor prohibitory amendment of the Maine constitution was announced in an official statement published last night by Secretary of State Cyrus W. Davis as the outcome of Monday's election.

An official recount will probably be necessary to determine the result of the balloting.

YESTERDAY LAST DAY

For Filing Suits for the Fall Term of Circuit Court.

MUCH ACTIVITY DISPLAYED.

International Harvester Co.
Defendant in $5,000
Suit.

Yesterday was the last day for filing suits for trial during the fall term of Christian Circuit Court which begins Monday, September 25, and there was much activity in the Circuit Clerk's office, such as usually accompanies the ending of old business and the beginning of a new term. While the docket is a large one no suits of great importance to the general public have been filed recently.

Up to noon yesterday there were 101 appearances and this number was probably swelled half dozen or more before night.

Among the suits filed yesterday were two by R. M. Wooldridge & Co., one for $1,423.45 against the Hamburg-Bremen Fire Insurance Co. and the other against the Georgia Home Insurance Co. for $1,779, amounts alleged to be due for tobacco burned on the night of the night rider raid here.

Another suit is that filed in the name of the Commonwealth of Kentucky against the International Harvester Co. for $5,000, in which it is alleged that defendant unlawfully entered into a combine and advanced the prices of farm machinery above their real value.

Holloway-Keener.

Announcement is made of the approaching marriage of Mr. Frank Holloway, of this county, to Miss Elizabeth S. Keener, oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Keener, of Knoxville, Tenn.

Mr. Holloway travels for the International Harvester Co. with headquarters at Knoxville. The wedding will be Nov. 28 at the Second Presbyterian church.

BIG CROWDS IN ATTENDANCE

At The State Fair In Spite of
All The Hot And Sultry Weather.

TO-DAY IS THE LAST DAY.

Orphans Brigade Reunion The Drawing Card Thursday.

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 15.—The sun that beamed benignly from dawn 'till dark rolled dollars by the thousands in the coffers of the Kentucky State Fair yesterday, from the biggest crowd of the week, and one of the largest in the history of the fair. At least 32,000 passed through the gates, and every attraction within the grounds was fairly "played off the boards."

The day was made notable by the presence of the Confederate Veterans of the Orphans' Brigade, who visited the fair in a body, and capped their annual reunion with a chicken dinner on the grounds.

CAMPAIGN

Formally Opened By Democrats
at Carlisle.

Carlisle, Ky., Sept. 14.—Formal opening of the democratic campaign for state offices took place here today at a barbecue attended by 15,000 persons. Gov. Marshall, of Indiana, had the place of honor as orator. Congressman James, candidate for United States Senator; James B. McCreary, candidate for governor, and other party leaders were speakers.

Amen.

County Attorney Duffy is reported to have delivered a lecture to some colored men in county court this week, the gist of which was that they should either get to work and earn an honest living or leave the county. Although this action is a little tardy, it is nevertheless commendable. Just now the farmers of Christian county are housing a crop of tobacco with an inadequate force for the reason that the colored men refuse to work. Work is to be had by everyone who will work at $1.50 per day and board, so there is no cause for complaint at either a dearth of work or meager wages. Yet there are scores of able-bodied men sitting around, idling away their time, and absolutely refuse to work at any price or on any condition. Housewives are unable to get servants for the same reason. These idle colored people go through the summer all right, but when the chilling winds of winter come they flock to the various charity organizations for help, and usually get it. This should not be. It is very well to allay the sufferings of the worthy poor, but it is all wrong to encourage idleness and viciousness under the guise of charity. By all means, let the strong arm of the law be invoked to drive out this very undesirable element of our citizenship.—Pembroke Journal.

Gets $10,000.

Miss Hallie Wetherby, of Jefferson county, a young school teacher who was shot in the abdomen by Thos. O. West, who was taking a drunken joy ride in an automobile, shooting off his pistol in the dark, has been settled with for $10,000. West also pays a fine of $500. The girl had a narrow escape from death.

Miss Emma Clyde, of Pittsburg, after a pleasant visit to Miss Mary Clark, returned home Thursday.

AUTO TURNS TURTLE

And Miss Louise Harrison Barely Escapes Death.

Miss Louise Harrison, of Clarksville, a niece of Mrs. W. A. McKenzie, of Oak Grove, was the victim of an auto accident in Memphis Tuesday, which came near resulting fatally. The young lady, who was a visitor to that city, was taking an automobile ride with Mr. Edwin S. Browne, when the machine turned turtle, pinning both occupants to the ground. The preliminary examination indicated that Miss Harrison had been fatally injured, but her condition is not so serious as was at first suspected and she will likely recover. Mr. Browne's shoulder blade was broken and his chest and several ribs were mashed with the steering wheel of the overturned machine, but physicians are of the opinion that he will recover unless unforeseen complications appear. Miss Harrison's head was a mass of bruises and cuts and her entire body was more or less bruised and cut.

AMUSEMENTS

"The Night Rider," a sensational melodrama, which will be produced at Holland's Opera House Monday night, Sept. 18, by the Rex Amusecal corruption in the tobacco district as its theme, and a beautiful love story interwoven. It bids fair to make one of the most pronounced hits of the season.

A soul-stirring story of love and political intrigue based on the de-bound to score a decided sensation.

O'REAR WANTS TO CHANGE THE SUBJECT.

No matter what policies the Republican national and State administrations are committed to, they must not be discussed in Kentucky this year, because it might offend Judge O'Rear whose peculiar mind can only shelter one idea at a time, and whose highly sensitive organization is so easily disturbed.

When President Taft comes out for reciprocity, and has to rely on Democratic votes to pass the measure, and Congressman Langley, O'Rear's Campaign Manager, votes against it, no mention must be made of the matter, because it annoys the super-sensitive Judge.

When President Taft urges Republican Senators to pass the arbitration treaties, and Ex-President Roosevelt appeals to them to defeat them, no reference must be made to the fact this year, because Judge
O'Rear wants to change the subject.

When a Democratic house passes bills reducing the tariff on wool, and the farmers and laborers free list bill, and the Democrats of the Senate with the aid of Republican insurgents, enact these measures into laws, and a Republican President vetoes them, every Kentucky speaker must keep silent on the subject for the reason that Judge O'Rear publicly confesses that he has never read the bills, nor heard of the vetoes.

Judge O'Rear will not permit the discussion of national questions in this Campaign, although he is urging the election of a Republican Legislature which will send to the United States Senate a man who, like Bradley, will vote against the reduction of the tariff, and will line up with the predatory trusts.

Judge O'Rear will not permit a discussion of the issues that have been raised by an incompetent, extravagant Republican State administration, because he does not want the minds of the voters to dwell on these disturbing questions.

The Republican platform endorsed

Taft, and it endorsed Willson.
O'Rear dominated that Convention.
He could have repudiated both these administrations, but he chose to support their every act, and if he has half the courage, honesty and sincerity which he boasts of having, he will continue that support in his public speeches.

Judge O'Rear is a law unto himself. He can ask questions, and refuse to answer those that are asked him. He can be for Taft when it promises to make votes, and against him as his popularity decreases. He can endorse Governor Willson in his platform, and ignore him on the stump.

Judge O'Rear has undertaken the impossible. All his borrowing and dodging will not avail. He must come out in the open and face the music.

The vigor with which the Democrats have started their Campaign under the leadership of Governor McCreary, has enthused every party man in the State. Victory in Kentucky and the nation is the battle-cry, and the whole Democratic electorate is falling into line.

This is not a contest to advance individual interests, or to further personal ambitions. It is a call to arms to dislodge the Republican enemy from control at Frankfort, and Washington, and it is the patriotic duty of every Democrat to enlist for the war. It will be a victory in which all of us will share.

The Democrats never had a better ticket or a stronger platform. How can any man who has the interest of his party at heart fail to support every man on it, and once for all get rid of Republican rule in this State?

A vote for O'Rear means a vote for Taft, for Bradley and for Powers. Don't forget that the Democrats of the nation are depending on Kentucky to fire the opening gun of the 1912 Campaign.

Who Was There That You Knew?

In the shadowy ranks of those who marched to defeat or death or victory fifty years ago in the mighty conflict that convulsed this great nation, is there father or grandfather or uncle of yours? Would you like to see a photograph of him in that long ago day of his youth—a photograph that he never knew was taken? Perhaps we can show you one; and in any case, we can tell you a story, stranger than any detective fiction, of 3,500 priceless photographs that were lost and are found again.

3,500 Long Buried Photographs of the Civil War

THEY were taken by the greatest photographer in the United States of that day; they were bought by the United States Government for $30,000; they were buried in the War Department for 50 years—they are buried there still. But a duplicate set was kept by the photographer—who died poor and broken down; that duplicate set was knocked from pillar to post for nearly 50 years, until it was discovered by a New England collector. J. Pierpont Morgan tried to secure the collection—Ex-President Garfield and General Benjamin F. Butler said it was worth $150,000—yet with has been gathered into 10 great volumes and is placed within your reach at less than the value of one of the photographs.
It is the one accurate, impartial history of the Civil War—for the camera cannot lie. It tells the story of the War you never heard before. Taken under protection of the Secret Service, these photographs bring to light thousands of little-known phases of the war; they penetrate to strange places and record strange things.

BATTLESHIP OF THE FUTURE

May Be Gigantic Submarine Capable of Diving Below Surface After Firing Broadside.

Albert Knox, discussing in The Navy the necessity of a new style of warship, says that if modern steel protective armor has failed to answer the purpose for which it was manufactured—a fact that seems to have been demonstrated beyond dispute by the experiments on the San Marcos—then heavily armored ships of war may soon be things of the past and modern battleships must seek new means and methods of protection from the attack of, or while attacking, an equal or superior enemy. Among the methods might be suggested increased speed, greater accuracy of gunfire (if possible), shortened time for finding range. Even with these points of superiority the future battleship needs as a requirement of paramount importance the ability to hide or to become invisible to the enemy. Of course this requirement can only be met by the future Dreadnought being a gigantic submarine capable of diving below the surface of the sea after firing a broadside and reappearing in an unexpected place. That such battleships will be built within the coming century is entirely within the range of probability.

ELECTRICITY IN THE AIR.

We have a comparatively new trouble with our teeth in which the teeth loosen in the jaw without apparent cause and drop out, leaving the dentist in mystery. In these recent years the general tendency toward baldness has been marked as unusually apparent. Are the electric waves used night and day in wireless telegraphy a cause?

Professor Hensingmuller suspects they may be. The effect of electrolysis is marked as it escapes from the cables of a power station. He says that in the sending of a wireless message only one mile, that portion of the electrical energy used is only 1-300,000,000ths of the energy expended. The rest goes into the air.

SUNDAY SCHOOL STILL LIVES.

Are things going to the bad when General Secretary Marion Lawrence is able to report to the International Sunday School convention in San Francisco a Sunday school attendance in this country only a few thousands short of 15,000,000? Since the last convention, three years ago, the increase in enrollment has been 1,431,006—itsself not a bad sign. In the numerous new organizations being planned for the church, the Sunday school remains the best as well as the oldest, rightly styled the strong right arm of the church. "Long may it wave!"—Leslie's.

DIFFICULT TO ENTER ARMY.

"No one knows until he makes the try," said a man who was looking for "something to do," "how hard it is to get into the army. I am down and out, and I thought that would be a good three-year job. On the same day that I tried 22 others did, and not one got in. Bad eyes, bad teeth and all sorts of things are booked against you. One fellow who went with me got 'ike' put after his name when they shut him out. We didn't know until the sergeant told us that it meant 'Insufficient knowledge of English.'"

MORE NURTURE THAN NATURE

Character Depends Especially on One's Surroundings, His Conduct and His Habit.

A Chicago preacher gives this definition of character: "The mutual product of nature and nurture, with more of nurture than of nature." One's surroundings, his conduct, his habit, are more important than his ancestry and his blood. We note this every day—how children of alleged blooded stock drop out of the race and other fellows, with no heredity behind the old cottage or dusty shop, forge ahead. If there is spirit in a man's blood he is all right. He will win. But this blood may have been pounding nails or hoeing corn for fifty years before.

It is the knack of getting at a thing that tells, and when one stops to count the profit of it he will likely fail. It is the doing of the thing unselfishly and almost blindly that commands success. Let any man go over his life and pick out some work or success that he is proud of, and he will find he didn't think it out, but rather strayed into it; saw an opening and wandered in. That is why so many poor boys get rich—they had to do something, and did it.—Ohio State Journal.

ALTITUDE AND THE VOICE

Races Living in Loftier Countries Speak in Higher Tones, As a Rule.

Generally speaking, races living at high altitudes have weaker and more highly pitched voices than those living in regions where the supply of oxygen is more plentiful.

Thus, in South America, among the Indians living on the plateaus between the ranges of the Andes, at an elevation of from 10,000 to 14,000 feet, the men have voices like women, and the women like children, their singing being a shrill monotone.

The Australian native have a weak voice, but a knack of sending it a long distance, and the lowest tribes of African Bushmen would come into the same category; but, it is said, of all human beings, the pygmies of central Africa have, in point of volume and compass, the weakest of human voices.—Harper's Weekly.

FEARED LIVING BURIAL.

A weird incident occurred lately in the cemetery of Pausa, a village in Saxony. The clergyman of the parish was preaching a funeral sermon at the grave of a seven-year-old girl when he astonished the mourners by asserting that he had dreamt that the girl was not really dead. The clergyman called upon the pall-bearers to open the coffin, and although they at first declined finally yielded. The clergyman approached the corpse, but after waiting in vain for the body to show signs of life, allowed the coffin to be lowered into the grave.

CHANNEL SOUNDINGS.

The fog was dense, the ship's engines had stopped and the passengers were beginning to feel nervous. All except one old lady; she was highly indignant at the apparent waste of time.

"Why don't you proceed?" she demanded of the captain.

"Can't see up the channel, madam," he replied.

"But, captain," she persisted, "I can see the stars overhead."

"Yes, ma'am," agreed the captain, "but until the boilers bust we ain't going that way."—Bellman.

WORKS FOR ENDOWMENT FUND.

Mrs. Percy V. Pennypacker of Austin, Tex., is chairman of the field committee of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, which is working for a $100,000 endowment fund. The money is to be used for traveling expenses of the members of the board, for council meetings and biennial conventions. Mrs. Pennypacker says that clubwomen must appeal to the emotions as well as the intellect of those whom they ask to help them collect this big sum of money.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 14.—Francis P. Leavenworth, head of the department of astronomy of the State University, has sighted the Brooks comet, recently discovered.

He says the comet is now visible to the naked eye in the early evening, near the Pole star. It will never be visible again, he says.

Old Adam.

He didn't have a stylish wife Who followed all of fashion's fads With rats and hobble skirts and pads. She never beggared his accounts By running bills of large amounts For willow plumes and four-foot hats And fancy high-heeled shoes and spats And evening gowns of texture fair. She wore no jewels in her hair. She ne'er had a desire to skip To Europe for a summer trip. In social realms she didn't shine And never had to stand in line At swell receptions dressed to kill. There was no unpaid modiste's bill. Though like all women every where,

She never suked about that fact, But got along with wondrous tact. The servant's problem peeved her not. She never worried o'er her lot Or caused a single family jar Because she had no touring car. And last, but not the least to note, She didn't even want to vote.

MY DAUGHTER WAS CURED

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Baltimore, Md.—"I send you herewith the picture of my fifteen year old daughter Alice, who was restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. She was pale, with dark circles under her eyes, weak and irritable. Two different doctors treated her and called it Green Sickness, but she grew worse all the time. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was recommended, and after taking three bottles she has regained her health, thanks to your medicine. I can recommend it for all female troubles."—Mrs. L. A. CORKRAN, 1103 Rutland Street, Baltimore, Md.

Bowling Green's Latest Claim.

Eleven thousand one hundred and fifty-one persons reside within the corporate limits of the city of Bowling Green according to the census recently taken and just published by the Hoffman Directories company. This is a gain of nearly 2,000 names over the federal census taken in 1910 which gave Bowling Green a population of only 9,173.—News.

Smart Set Items.

Rose Cecil O'Neill, whose frontispiece in the June issue of THE SMART SET attracted such wide attention, contributes a striking interpretation of the famous love story of Paola and Francesca to the October number. In addition to the work of Rose Cecil O'Neill, THE SMART SET under the new owner has published frontispieces by James Montgomery Flagg, Vernon Howe Bailey and Garth Jones. Each of these pictures has been decidedly out of the ordinary, as befits "A Magazine of Cleverness", and the high standard thus set will be brilliantly maintained by Andrew Castaigne in a series of frontispieces depicting great historical love affairs.

"The Goth," the complete novel by Wyndham Martin in the October SMART SET, is a subtle and yet at the same time amusing study of an uncouth farm boy who, under the coaching of a remarkable tutor, succeeds in storming the heights of English aristocracy. In plot, characterization and dialogue, this is in every way a notable piece of fiction.

Ex-Governor Simon Bolivar Buckner Strong For The Ticket.

The statement that Ex-Governor Simon Bolivar Buckner was strong for McCreary and the whole State Ticket was good news to Democrats everywhere. Kentucky has never had a better Governor or a more honorable man, and it is gratifying to see him showing renewed interest in the success of his party. While it is not probable that Governor Buckner will be able to make any speeches, he will give other evidence of his interest, and his commendation will win thousands of votes for the ticket.

It is gratifying to see these old leaders in the ranks once more. All of them realize that Democratic success in Kentucky this year will add materially in the election of a Democratic President next year. These accessions prove that the Republican statements that the Democracy of Kentucky is divided into factions are without a basis of truth. While the party has been through a very strenuous period, Democrats everywhere have accepted the result, and instead of flying at each others' throats, are united in their determination to place Kentucky where it belongs, in the list of Democratic States.

Judge O'Rear has discovered that Edward J. McDermott, candidate for Lieutenant Governor, is one of the ablest, purest and best men in Kentucky. To quote his exact language, he says: "Ed. is the classiest one of the bunch." The truth is that the entire Democratic Ticket is the strongest and worthiest ever presented to the voters of the State.

Hon. Wm. Addams, who contested the nomination with Governor McCreary, states in a Courier-Journal interview that the Democratic ticket will be elected by 15,000 majority. Mr. Addams took his defeat like the good game loser that he is, and is now working valiantly for the success of his party in November. The significant feature of this Campaign is the unselfishness of the Democratic leaders. Every man of them is putting aside his personal ambitions in a loyal effort to redeem the State.

ON THE VALUE OF CALMNESS

Habit is the Twin Sister of Comfort and is Not Difficult to Acquire.

One of the finest things within reach of the average individual is calmness.

It is also profitable. Calmness is the twin sister of comfort. The man or woman who has formed the habit of calmness is apt to be comfortable when others are uncomfortable.

Nor is it such a difficult matter to make this habit feel enough at home to become a member of the family!

For calmness is about 90 per cent. freedom from fear.

As a rule, the person who is not calm is afraid of something or somebody. Afraid of self, perhaps. And that is the most disconcerting sort of fear.

The way to be calm is to be calm.

When the winds of adversity or disappointment or discouragement are seeking to ruffle your mental sea, keep remembering that there is no such thing as a comfortable passage with the waves beating high.

Those who are dealing with you will not overlook this, you may be sure. No person is going to risk mal de mer when it can be avoided.

Keep calm!

Fundamental Truths.

I have grown to believe that the one thing worth aiming at is simplicity of heart and life; that the world is a very beautiful place; that congenial labor is the secret of happiness.—A. F. Benson.

AND THE BEER KEG BOBBED

But the Swordfish Grew Weary and Finally Was Landed by Judge Dinnean.

Judge Tom Dinnean is back with his good ship Nomad after a cruise in which he had some rare adventures. Here's one as he tells it himself with his well-known regard for veracity:

"We were 15 miles off Block island in the dusk of the day when we came on a school of salt mackerel. First thing we knew a swordfish butted in and there was a wild scramble among the mackerel. The swordfish filled up on the school and then, like an overfed hog, took a nap on the surface of the water. My engineer used to be a New Bedford whaler and he carries a lot of old-time tackle on the Nomad. He went forward and heaved a harpoon into the small of the swordfish's back. He had already secured an empty beer keg—got that 'empty'—to the end of the harpoon line. Mr. Swordfish, as soon as the harpoon got into him, took it on the run, with the beer keg trailing along. He dived and tacked and doubled on his tracks, but the keg was ever on the job. Finally his despair and exhaustion did the trick. He gave a feeble flicker with his tail and we hauled him aboard. He was six feet two inches long and weighed 400 pounds, and, say—he was fine eating."—New York World.

JESUS WOULDN'T KNOW HER

Little Girl's Warning to Mother Who Had Not Been Attending Church Regularly.

Albeit her tender age seems to forbid, Elizabeth Bohanon, whose parents reside at 9403 Lamont avenue, already sings in church. That is, she sings for the Sunday school class of the Euclid Avenue Baptist church. Mrs. Bohanon, whose time is largely devoted to a younger child, has not been able of late to attend church with any degree of regularity, but she makes Elizabeth repeat to her the subject of her lesson and encourages her to sing her church songs at home.

The other day—perhaps the heat tried the little girl's temper—Elizabeth declined to sing a favorite song at her mother's request. It was a plain talk.

"Very well," threatened Mrs. Bohanon. "Unless you sing for me this instant I mean to go to church next Sunday and sing your song myself."

"Better not go," commented the four-year-old philosopher, adverting to her mother's frequent absences, "Jesus won't know you."—Cleveland Leader.

ENGLAND IMPORTS MUCH FRUIT.

The annual imports of fruits, and nuts used as fruit, into the United Kingdom aggregate roundly $50,000,000. The British official reports for the calendar year 1910 placed the total at $50,598,105, to which apples contributed $10,654,272; oranges, $11,035,796; bananas, $8,266,023; grapes, $3,308,816; pears, $2,569,623; lemons, $2,200,218, and plums, $2,112,076, these several items constituting 81 per cent. of the whole. Nuts imported and used as fruit amounted to $7,417,281, of which nearly one-half was credited to almonds.

WANTED SATISFACTION ONCE.

Ellen is a very obedient child, but chafes at times under the restrictions imposed upon her tastes by the dictates of plain living. Although she is excessively fond of sweets she has always been told that sweets are not good for little girls' teeth and tummies, and as a rule she is content with her diet. Still, being a very human little body, she does break over now and then.

"Daddy," she said to her father one morning this week, "please put sugar in my cereal. Put lots in—much more than is best."

What could the poor father do?

AN AMERICAN QUERY.

Stories continue to come in of the doings of Americans during the coronation. Every American goes eight seeing, and as one of the conducted trips drove near Grosvenor house the guide pointing it out said:

"That is the town house of the duke of Westminster, one of our largest landed proprietors."

A pretty girl on the second seat looked up in sudden enthusiasm.

"Oh!" she cried. "Who landed

DANGERS OF THE SEASIDE

Health Seekers Cannot Always Respond to the Powerful Stimulus of the Air.

As a rule there is nothing to be said against the quality of sea air; it is cool, pure and clean, its supply is unlimited and ever fresh, and yet there may be found by medical men a reason for warning their patients about the drawbacks of the environment. The amusements offered at the seaside may be so varied compared with those of a quiet country life that the temptations of fishing, bathing, sailing and water sports in general are difficult to resist, even although it is the visitor's common experience time after time that the sea does not exactly suit his general health. It is a mischievous idea in the layman's mind that the remedy for all weak states of health is necessarily sea air. It is not always that the individual seeking strength can respond to the powerful and exciting stimulus of the bracing sea air; the digestive, secretory, circulatory and eliminatory systems may be goaded to an energy of which they are incapable by reason of a general debilitated condition; they are not able to do their work without exhaustion and the last state of that man may be worse than the first.—The Lancet.

JUST SUITED HIM

Mr. Krusty—No, sir, my daughter shall never leave the parental roof.

Tom Wise—I have no objections to coming here to live, sir.

CHILDREN AS SAVERS.

France has a school savings bank system which has been in operation since 1834, and at the present time there are over $3,000,000 in the banks. Germany has maintained a similar system since 1840. Lowell, Mass., children have placed more than $10,000 in the banks since 1900. A Pittsburg bank has more than 26,000 children depositors with $150,000 on deposit. At the beginning of last year seven cities in the United States had school savings systems and these showed 230,000 depositors with $870,686 deposited.

EUNUCH'S LOVE AFFAIR.

A love tragedy occurred a few days ago at Calonica in the harem of the dethroned Sultan Abdul Hamid. A eunuch, named Yussuf Ali, became violently enamored of Eminch Aide, one of the most beautiful ladies of the harem. But the lady looked with disdain on his attentions. The other afternoon the eunuch followed her into the gardens. Suddenly he seized her, and after kissing her he plunged a dagger into her heart, and she fell dead. When her murderer was captured it was found that he had become insane. The anger of Abdul Hamid knew no bounds when he heard of his beautiful favorite's death, and it has been found necessary for the time to remove all eunuchs from his harem.

OCCUPATION OF IDOLS.

Some strange occupations figure on Indian census schedules. At the last census in many villages of Hyderabad and the central provinces enthusiastic and devout enumerators returned the village shrines and temples as "occupied houses." The occupant was the idol, whose occupation was stated as "granting boons and blessings," "living on contributions from the tenants." Other callings returned on the schedules include collectors of edible birds' nests, receivers of stolen goods, witches, wizards and cow poisoners.

WHY WILLIE DID NOT WIN

Failed to Hear Pistol Go Off, but Got Trophy for Running, Anyhow.

It was his twenty-first birthday party, says Answers. Each guest in turn was tackled by the proud mother, who explained the many virtues and the wonderful talents possessed by Willie.

"Look at the prizes he has won," she said, and forthwith the guest was forced to follow to another room, where Willie's hard-won prizes were on show. A book, presented by Uncle Joseph when Willie played his first piano piece, the medal he gained when he marched in the school procession, and other trophies of his many triumphs were all displayed.

But chief of all was the silver cup that stood in the center. And the guest wondered.

"What was this prize for?" he asked.

"That? Oh, that was for running!" answered the proud parent.

"And who presented it to him?" questioned the curious guest, as he failed to find the inscription.

"Well—we did," came the slow response, and then, as the guest still gazed in surprise, she explained:

"You see, Willie certainly would have won, but he didn't hear the pistol go off!"

TROLLEY AND CABLE.

Recently it was found that the operation of a siphon recorder of the submarine telegraph cable at Cape Town, South Africa, was interfered with by a trolley line. The shore end of the submarine cable for the length of a mile was at a mean distance of half a mile from the trolley line.

As a remedy a second or dummy cable with an earthplate was laid as nearly as possible over the old one and this effectually put an end to the disturbances. Observations made in London have shown that the earth's magnetic field is disturbed over the whole neighborhood of a certain electric railroad, and in the United States the utility of our magnetic observatories has more than once been threatened by the trolley.

PRETTY STORY SPOILED.

Apocryphal of your recent interesting editorial, "Accidents of History," in which you refer to Henry George's long citation of the story of the stoppage by an English warship, by order of Charles I., of a vessel on which Oliver Cromwell had taken passage for New England, it is a very little matter, but Mr. George might be interested to know that all modern historians agree that this story is entirely apocryphal. No basis for it has ever been adduced.—Letter to the New York Evening Post.

CHILD WELFARE EXHIBIT.

The State University of Texas has appropriated a sum that will make it possible to have a child welfare exhibit at the state fair in that state this fall. Many cities will have exhibits of their own, and the Texas Congress of Mothers is working to make a success of the exhibit. The playgrounds of the state will form one portion of the exhibit.

The entire series at Fulton was lost by the Moguls by very close margins and word comes by unfairness on the part of Umpire Pierce, who was determined to keep Hopkinsville from winning. All of the games were lost on points that changed results and were clearly bad decisions.

The first game of 5 innings was 3 to 1, the two games of the double-header 1 to 0 and 2 to 1. Nix pitched all three of the Fulton games, while Johnson and Glass worked for the moguls. The first game of the Cairo series was won by Hopkinsville 3 to 2 Thursday. The team will play 4 games in Cairo and return home Monday for 2 games with Cairo and 3 with Fulton, closing the season Friday.

WORLD'S NERVIEST GIRL.

Young French Woman Risks Life In New Circus Thriller.

The most dangerous and terrific of circus thrillers is being presented this season with the Adam Forepaugh and Sells Bros.' circus by a young French woman, Mile Marie Petrot. Seated in a heavy automobile she makes a terrific dash down a steep incline, the car and the rider then leaping high into the air and making two complete somersaults in space before lightning on a spring platform fifty feet away.

The danger of the act is apparent to all beholders. As the car makes its frightful leap into space, a tragedy seems inevitable. The first turn is made in safety, but this only intensifies the suspense. For the fraction of a second the automobile pauses in the air, bottom up, as though its energy were already spent. This for the audience is the critical moment and many avert their eyes, death to the brave young woman seeming certain. As gracefully as a bird wings its way across a meadow the second somersault is turned and with a heavy crash the car hits the platform.

This is but one of many sensational numbers with the show. The Ty-Bell sisters, from France, are presenting an aerial spectacle known as the "Human Butterfly" act. It is as dangerous and it has great beauty as well. Among the trained numbers are two troupes of jugglers and musical seals. Taylor's monkey circus and the three best trained herds of elephants in the world.

The big circus will be seen in Hop kinsville on Thursday, Sept. 28, giving two performances which in every detail will be the same as those presented in New York City where this show is considered the pattern for all. The parade to be given in the forenoon is a great moving world's exposition. It is three miles in length and the entire equipment is new.

There are 350 artists with the show, gathered from the four corners of the earth. There are riders from Arabia, acrobats from Italy, equilibrists from France, gymnasts from Germany, jugglers from India, aerialists from Russia, clowns from Persia, animal trainers from Africa and balancers from Japan. There are Cossacks, Australian bushmen, Saharan wonderworkers, Roman charioteers, Spanish toreadores and hippodrome racers and contestants from many savage and civilized lands. Novelty is the keynote of the big show. Everything has been done to give the circus an entirely different aspect from the circuses of the past. In this effort the management has been most successful.
